Welcome to the Love for Local Product Range

Here at 'Love for Local' we take great care in handpicking food and drink producers that fulfill two key criteria - quality and provenance. Never have the British general public been so interested in where their food comes from and here at 'Love for Local', we're striving to make this as transparent as possible.

We're offering distribution of these products to all trade outlets including Farm Shops, Delicatessens, Butchers, Coffee Shops, Garden Centres, Caterers, Pubs and Restaurants.

We believe that by choosing to stock our producers' products, or using them as primary ingredients in the kitchen, it can help your business in several ways:

- Demonstrate to your customers your commitment to lower 'Food Miles'
- Stocking or using products with clear provenance and lines of traceability
- Support businesses local to you and your communities
- Give your customers a choice they won't always find in the supermarkets.

"Thank you for showing an interest in the "Love for Local" product range. I set this company up in July 2009 with the purpose of helping the UK's general public enjoy more food and drink sourced locally. By working with us you're helping to achieve this goal, for which I am very grateful."

Toby Drought

Founder and Managing Director

FARMHOUSE COOKERY

A slice of farmhouse heaven

Farmhouse Cookery began in a farm kitchen in 1988, supplying cakes to local villages. The business has since moved to larger premises and now supplies cakes and pavlovas to retailers. Based in the picturesque village of Bosham on the south coast, it has a workforce of 14.

Jason Burt joined the company in 1990 and took over the family business from his mother, Gina, when she moved to Scotland. With fond childhood memories of her baking, he proudly continues the family tradition of making handmade cakes with real ingredients.

Wild Island makes its products by hand in small batches on the Isle of Wight. Exploring and combining flavours is at the heart of its range, with carefully selected ingredients and local produce used wherever possible. Provenance, quality and taste guide every blend. The oils and vinegars can be enjoyed on their own or combined to create dressings, dips, marinades and glazes.

Becky's bees forage on flowers across farm fields, wild meadows and gardens throughout spring and summer, while also pollinating fruit crops across the South Downs. Their honey is cold-extracted, coarsely filtered and unpasteurised. The honeys are never blended, so colour and flavour vary naturally from jar to jar.

KENT CRISPS
TRADITIONAL HAND COOKED BRITISH CRISPS

Kent Crisps began when its then managing director, Angie, saw an opportunity to use potatoes from the Quex Park Estate in East Kent. Already producing rapeseed oil from estate-grown oilseed rape, she and her husband experimented with potato varieties, slicing and frying them at home until they found the crisp they were looking for.

THE GARLIC FARM
ON THE ISLE OF WIGHT

The Garlic Farm is a family business rooted in a love of garlic. It has grown garlic on the Isle of Wight since Granny Norah planted the first cloves in her garden more than 60 years ago. Since then, the family has explored garlic's history and origins, experimented with different varieties and created garlic-infused products, from mayonnaise and chutneys to black garlic beer.

Confectionery

The Original Biscuit Bakers, formerly Image on Food, began making novelty gingerbread biscuits in Market Drayton in 1987. The first creation was a gingerbread pig with a pink curly tail, requested by the owners' two-year-old daughter. After a local tourist attraction sold 700 biscuits in three weeks, the family recognised an opportunity. The business grew to supply independent retailers, distributors and prestigious London stores, winning national awards along the way.

MONTEZUMA'S
EXTRAORDINARY CHOCOLATE

Former lawyers Helen and Simon Pattinson founded Montezuma's in 2000, making chocolate by hand with one small machine and a shop in Brighton. The response to their first range encouraged them to build the business, creating a varied selection of chocolate bars, buttons and fudge.

ChalkStream®

ChalkStream® raises English rainbow trout in the waters of Hampshire's Test and Itchen rivers. Grown slowly for two years in pure, fast-flowing chalk-stream water, the trout develop a lean texture and distinctive, clean taste.

"There has been a trout revival recently, largely down to the trout-friendly chalkstreams we have in the UK, as well as the passion of producers such as ChalkStream®"

Yotam Ottolenghi – chef, restaurateur and food writer

"A COLOURFUL COLLABORATION"

Turner Hardy & Co. grew from Eddie Turner and Hugo Hardman's shared love of good food and the perfect Bloody Mary. After years supplying and working in pubs, bars and restaurants, they sought a better alternative to tomato juice made from concentrate. Their search took them to the Isle of Wight, and in 2015 they began making juices from hand-picked, vine-ripened tomatoes. High in lycopene, low in salt and sugar, and gluten-free, the juices can be enjoyed on their own, in mocktails or as a Bloody Mary base.

Folkington's juices

Folkington's carefully selects fruit varieties and sources from the same growers year after year to maintain a consistent flavour. Its juices are made from pure juice rather than concentrate, without preservatives, unnecessary additives or sweeteners. A pinch of natural salt is added to the tomato juice, and a little citric acid to the tomato and pear juices.

Orchards have been cultivated at Ringden Farm on the Kent–Sussex border since 1949. Chris and Lesley Dench established the juice business in 1990 after a hailstorm marked their fruit crop. The range has grown to include more than 20 award-winning single-variety apple juices, alongside pear juice and fruit blends. Traditional pressing and slow pasteurisation preserve the flavour of English apples.

BLACKMOOR ESTATE

Blackmoor Orchards makes freshly pasteurised apple juice from hand-picked apples grown on Blackmoor Estate in Hampshire, where fruit has been grown for over 100 years.

Freshly pressed after harvest with no added artificial flavours or preservatives. Their apple juice is available in 3lt pouches and 5lt BIBs but also they have a sustainable juice refill scheme and have stations around the local area where you can take your Blackmoor Orchards 750ml bottle and refill with their delicious juice made from 100% handpicked Hampshire Apples. We can facilitate the set up of these stations.
